Field Ready – a group of non-profit, non-governmental aid organizations - was formed to fill a critical gap in the way that international aid is delivered. To do this, we make urgently needed items, train others and innovate creating unique solutions.

Our vision is guided by a transformation in the way that needs are met and assets/capabilities are built. We do this wherever our approach can making a meaningful impact.

Our approach embraces a respect for others, an openness to learning and experimentation and partnerships with a broad range of stakeholders.

For more info contact: info@fieldready.org +1.773.969.9750
Field Ready is a group of non-profit, non-governmental organizations that is pioneering ways to provide humanitarian relief and meet need by transforming logistics and ultimately how aid is provided.

Our vision is to meet humanitarian need by transforming logistics through technology, innovative design and engaging people in new ways. Field Ready brings manufacturing to challenging places by actually making urgently needed items.

We train thousands of people each year to solve problems locally in a range of sectors including health, water and sanitation. We use difference technologies (traditional, appropriate and exponential) to achieve our goals. We work worldwide in places such as Syria and Iraq, Bangladesh, East Africa and the South Pacific.

The impact of this is dramatically improving efficiency in aid delivery by meeting needs that are at best only partially fulfilled at present in part by cutting procurement costs and reducing transport and saving time. In 2020, roughly 100,000 people were directly impacted by our programs in over a half-dozen countries.

For additional details, click here.
Recently Field Ready has:

- Assisted thousands of disaster-affected people
- Trained thousands of people in design, technology and humanitarian relief
- Created an innovative approach that is being replicated in other countries and disaster zones
- Formed partnerships with a range of sector leaders including World Vision, GIZ, PLAN, UNICEF and USAID as well as private business and local government
- Presented our approach at numerous venues and conferences such as TEDx, Maker Faires and the World Humanitarian Summit
- Made about 100,000 relief and reconstruction items using techniques such as 3D printers, injection molds and specialty software

For more info contact: info@fieldready.org +1.773.969.9750
Field Ready has appeared in the following media outlets:

- Wired
- Make: makezine.com
- The Guardian
- Fast Company
- MSNBC
- Sky News
- Al Jazeera
- Thomson Reuters

For more info contact: info@fieldready.org +1.773.969.9750
Field Ready is happy to help your organization positively share news about our work. We do ask that full attribution is given and that permission be granted for use of images.

Terms and conditions:
Reproduction or redistribution of the Field Ready Site Content or any portion of the Site Content is strictly prohibited without the prior written permission of Field Ready. Please contact Field Ready to request images and/or permission to publish or quote.

Our logo captures the practical, tangible aspect of our work. The blue color symbolizes trust, stability, confidence and wisdom. White is a universal color, symbolizing neutrality and pacifism. The bucket and screw are essential, life-saving tools. The circle represents humanity and unity.

For more info contact: info@fieldready.org +1.773.969.9750
For more info:

Joanne von Alroth – Communications Lead
Eric James – Executive Director

info@fieldready.org

+1.773.969.9750

@fldrdy

facebook.com/fldrdy

fieldready